Joseph Barondess, the next speaker, said that the voice of labor on the east; side is raised in protest against the proposed changes.

"The conditions on the east side are placed in the tenement house is responsible in a large measure for the moral and physical inferiority of the moral and physical inferiority of the people of the east side. In one instance twenty-nine cases of consumption were found in a single house on Sufficial state. It is not a question of protecting the lives, therefore, of the people of the east side only, but those of the people of the entire city.

A. L. Guttman spoke for the Janitors' Society. "None knows better than the janitor," deciared the speaker, "the conditions which akeady exist in the tenement houses. These bills at Albany propose to enlarge our tenement houses, making greater crowded conditions; they propose to reduce the light and air quantity; they propose to make worse the present sanitation."

Protest from Dr. Rainsford.

tev. Mr. Packard, who spoke for Rev. Rainsford, said that Dr. Rainsford Mary Grossman, Who Has Wept was unavoidably detained. "He is unalterably opposed to any change in the present laws," said the speaker. "Dr. Rainsford wants more light and more air for the dwellers in tenement-houses. In his parish reside 5,400 families into whose lives he can never expect to secure the admission of light if the tenement-house legislation, at Albany becomes a fact."

Republican leader Joseph Levinson, of the Fourth Assembly District, aroused great enthusiasm by declaring that the present Legislature was not worthy the name until it has improved instead of hindered the present law.

Mayor Will Oppose It.

The Mayor arose at the conclusion of the hearing and, addressing the assemblage, said:

"I am glad of this opportunity to address such a representative gathering on such a subject. It appeals to me.

"Who would be free himself must strike the blow." Added light and air is what we want. Freedom from such handicaps to morals and health are demanded.

"As for the bills, now before the Legislature I may say the administration is utterly opposed to them. Our representative at Albany has been instructed to oppose them.

"You may be assured that we shall all profit by what has been said here to-day, and if legislation is arrived at it will be legislation, that will improve and not detract from the tenement-house situation, which appeals to us all."

A few months ago she met Tinsel, the chief revenue official, on the street. She snapped her fingers in his face when he told her they had heard she retorted, "and that you'll never do again. "You will have to catch me," she retorted, "and that you'll never do again. Before I was a fool. Now I am wise. If you can catch me again, do it."

Chief Agent Tinsel and several of his deputies swooped down on the basement of No. 74 Oliver street and caught the woman red handed, they say, as she operated a 100-gailon copper twin still. By her was a five-gailon cask of spirits just finished and still warm. It would make ten gallons of whiskey. A lot of sugar and yeast mash was also seized. The officials hoped to catch a man who was working with her, but he had slipped out.

The woman was arraigned before Commissioner Shields and committed to Ludlow street jall in default of $1,000 bail.
